

From: Tom Voorheis
To: Microsoft ATR
Date: 1/27/02 11:29am
Subject: Microsoft Settlement

I am sending this e-mail in regard to the proposed settlement in the US vs. Microsoft Antitrust case. The proposed settlement leaves to many open doors to Microsoft to simply work around them, and becomes simply a road bump in Microsoft's domination of the market, rather than its intended purpose to allow for competitors to do what competitors are actually meant to do. compete. I very much urge you to reconsider many of the definition of what Microsoft must do, particularly in regards to the distribution of information regarding all the of the APIs which power all Microsoft windows devices, that is all devices which are run by the Win32 APIs. I strongly urge you to reconsider this settlement, for i disagree with it strongly for it does not fulfill the purpose that it was meant for. my opinion is stated.

Tom Voorheis, Ann Arbor, MI

--